

I certify that Dr Hudson Jones was appointed Apothecary General by the government ad interim and that in prosecution of the duties of his office he proceeded to New Orleans in the autumn of 1836. The objects of that appointment appear to have been to supply a certain upply of good and suitable medicine and medical stores - the introduction of a greater economy in the medical department and in regard to the general Sanitary interests of the country and I do further state that the operations of Dr Jones have resulted in a considerable saving of expense to the government.
I have had 2 J Mooney. 1837
